A moonlight excursion and dance will be given on the propeller Messenger to Spectacle Reef and return on Saturday evening. The boat leaves at 9 p. m. and tickets, including dance, have been placed at 50 cents.

George Bunker has leased the Wood store, on the corner south of the Grand Central hotel and has fitted it up in good style for his crockery store, and will soon open a choice stock of crockery of the latest styles.

The alarm of fire last Thursday afternoon was caused by the burning of a small building on the east side, owned by Geo. A. Melville. It is supposed to have caught fire from some chips that had been set on fire by boys. The building was insured for $125.

The Tennesseans had a crowded house last Thursday evening and gave the best of satisfaction. The receipts were $126, thus netting the Baptist church a neat little sum. The Tennesseans may be sure of a good house whenever they appear in Cheboygan.

Remember the commencement exercises this evening and to-morrow evening of St. Mary's school in the school hall. Their programme is a choice one and cannot fail to be entertaining. An admission fee of 50 cents will be charged, the proceeds to be used for the benefit of the school.

Children's Day was observed at the M. E. church on Sunday last. The church was tastefully trimmed with evergreens and cut flowers and presented a very handsome appearance. The morning service consisted of responsive readings and in the evening the exercises were almost wholly by the children of the Sunday school, and consisted of singing dialogues, and recitations. The children acquitted themselves creditably and the large audience present were well pleased with the entertainment.

Grand Traverse county is reported as having enjoyed a snow storm last Sunday night.

A threshing machine and horsepower arrived up on the Atlantic Tuesday morning for P. C. & E. Munroe.

Callithumpians will meet at Council room to-morrow night to complete arrangements. Everybody invited to attend.

J. B. Adams is building a boat at his planing mill for parties who intend entering for a prize in the boat races on the Fourth.

Will S. McArthur returned home Saturday from Orchard Lake Military Academy on the City of Alpena. Will returned full of honors.

Capt. James F. Snow, our former townsman, is mate on the steamer Keweenaw, that was in port Saturday forenoon bound to Green Bay.

A. R. Thayer was in town this week visiting his family. He is engaged in business in Detroit, and at the same time is making sales for the product of the Cheboygan Novelty Wood works.

Capt. S. F. Talsma brought down a handsome fawn Friday night on his fishing tug Messenger. It was captured near Mud lake and was as tame as a kitten. He took it to Detroit on the City of Alpena Saturday night.

The tug Pendell while bringing down a raft of logs from Millicolquin for the Cheboygan Lumber Company was drifted ashore by the wind at Point du Chene, four miles from St. Helena dock. The tug R. C. Wilson left last night to assist her.

Sunday morning Cheboygan enjoyed quite a copious and refreshing shower. By night it had grown very cool and Monday was a regular arctic day, linen dusters requiring overcoats to make them comfortable. Tuesday it had moderated down to a very comfortable temperature.

The Novelty Wood Works has made a number of shipments recently of boxes and excelsior. The establishment has not been running to its full capacity owing to a lack of dry timber, but they have put up a dry kiln and have it in operation and expect hereafter to keep things moving.

Albert Jewell, working on the streets for Street Commissioner Erratt, last Friday while chopping off some roots of a stump made a miss-hit and stuck the axe into his foot, splitting one of his big toes. He had taken his father's place on the work for that day and his accident will disable him for some time.

The Michigan Tradesman copied our item of last week about Dr. A. M. Gerow's cranberry marsh and writes the Doctor requesting full particulars as to the result of the venture. The Doctor says the only result so far, financially, is the investment of quite a sum of money. We have no doubt however, that he will reap a rich reward in the future.

Monday a man named Wight, employed at the Duncan City mills, while turning a cant in the mill was thrown down by the carriage running back with force and a dog struck him in the palm of the hand, penetrating through and cutting off the bone in his little finger. Dr. C. A. Perrin attended him and while disabled he is receiving the benefit of the "Accident and Sick Benefit Society" recently organized among the employees at Duncan.

Monday of last week in Detroit there was a public test made of the patent fire escape invented by Thomas MacDonough of Duncan City. Several members of the fire department of that city were present and witnessed the trial. The Free Press says: "The test was made at Jewett & Co.'s building, on the corner of Larned and Wayne streets. The machine is made entirely of iron and consists of an ingenious arrangement of cables and a basket. A fireman made the descent in safety."

This afternoon the marriage of E. D. Brooks, of California and Miss Ella Jordan takes place at the residence of the bride's mother on Division street. Miss Jordan is one of Cheboygan's favorite young ladies, highly esteemed by an extensive acquaintance and her departure will be regretted by hosts of warm friends, yet all will join the TRIBUNE in wishing that her future may be full of the sunshine of happiness and in congratulating Mr. Brooks on capturing one of Cheboygan's fairest daughters. The future home of the happy couple will be in California.

Henry J. Miner, now located at Roland, Dakota, is expected home July 1.

Rev. H. C. Northrup, wife and wife's sister arrived on the City of Alpena Saturday afternoon.

Our merchants ought to decorate their places of business for the coming Fourth. Who will make the finest display?

There was a heavy frost in southern Michigan last Sunday night doing considerable damage to corn and other growing crops.

When Cheboygan undertakes anything she usually gets there in good shape and the coming celebration of the Fourth of July will be no exception.

An Ohio farmer says that by planting a couple of grains of flax seed in each hill of potatoes the festive potato bug is prevented from getting in its work.

Wild strawberries are being harvested in this section and had there been more rain the crop would have been simply immense, as it is they are quite plentiful.

The Cheboygan Lumber company ships their lumber about as fast as manufactured. They are turning out lumber well manufactured and receive the top price of the market in Chicago.

A lighter load of lumber while being towed down to the schooner Maumee Valley Tuesday capsized dumping most of the lumber in the river. A boom was placed around it and secured just above the vessel.

The piles driven by the Cheboygan lumber company, for additional booming ground is quite an improvement to the harbor as they extend several hundred feet beyond the old piers and are being filled in with slabs and edgings.

Mr. McGulpin, an old gentleman living in the suburbs was talking a cow Tuesday evening when she commenced kicking and in his haste to get away and save what milk he had, stumbled and fell striking on a stump, fracturing two ribs. Dr. C. A. Perrin was called and attended him.

Sunday was not a very favorable day for an excursion, but notwithstanding quite a number had courage to venture out on the wild waves knowing that they had a good staunch boat and careful captain. Many that went afterwards wished they had not, but you cannot find any that will own up to being seasick.

Mr. Jos. J. Murphy has leased the well known hotel, the Cass House, and will hereafter conduct it. Mr. Murphy has had several years experience in the hotel business and no doubt but that under his management the house will receive its full share of patronage. John Murphy is connected with the bar and will be found in charge of that department. The rates have been reduced to $1 per day.

We acknowledge the receipt of No. 3 of the Grand Rapids Herald a new weekly paper, the venture of J. Lloyd Brezee. It is neat, newsy and readable, just such a paper as was to have been expected from Brezee. It is "published every Saturday to be read Sunday," and is full of spicy local and society news. It strikes us that there should be a good field for just such a paper in Grand Rapids, and hope that Brezee's efforts to cultivate the field may result in a rich reward for him.

Wm. Bartholomew was one of the excursionists on the Messenger last Sunday and tried to leave his dog behind, but the dog would be bound to go and did. Mr. Bartholomew placed him in charge of the porter who locked him up in the baggage room near the engine and this came near causing trouble, as every time the Captain blew the whistle to signal the engineer, the dog would howl in so near the same key the engineer could not distinguish which was which, and consequently became confused. The canine had to be removed to the forward part of the boat.

Bert Ramay writes that last Monday a man named Jim Hayes, about 55 years of age, in the employ of Capt. S. F. Talsma, at Batchawanning Bay, was quite seriously cut with an axe. He was holding a reel while another man was driving some arms with the axe, the latter flew off the handle and the blade struck Hayes in the mouth knocking out two upper teeth and splitting his lower lip and cutting a gash in his chin. A requisition was made on the natives, and some silk thread secured and Capt. John Matheson turned surgeon and stitched up the cut.

Frank Bowen takes his departure to-morrow for Tacoma, Washington territory.

I. S. Cooper has received from Henry Miner a beautiful sketch of Dakota mountain scenery.

Messrs Case & Perrin have been appointed agents for the sale of Dr. Bosanko's celebrated cough and lung syrup.

A letter received from Henry Rindskoff yesterday states that he is greatly improved, and will return in a few days.

Mrs. Bartlett has leased the Pioneer House and is having it thoroughly renovated preparatory to opening it next week as a $1.00 per day house.

The TRIBUNE office has received many compliments upon its tasty poster for the Fourth of July celebration. It is a fair sample of our every day work.

The night train on the Michigan Central railroad will be put on next Sunday night leaving Detroit that evening. The first train down will leave Mackinac City Monday night.

Robert Chalmers, who has been attending a business college at Chatham, Ont., the past winter, returned to Cheboygan last week and is now behind the bar at the Michigan Exchange.

White's Theatre Co. opened at the Opera House Monday night in a list of standard plays. The company is well spoken of by those who have attended. They occupy the boards the balance of the week and have put prices down to 10 and 20 cents. They certainly ought to have good houses at these prices.

Wednesday morning the Detroit Evening News of Tuesday arrived via Mackinac City thus gaining several hours. As we understand the night train on the Michigan Central will be put on next Sunday, after that the Detroit evening papers will be received the next morning.

The Vanderbilt Review has passed in its checks, the plant being sold by the sheriff to Mancelosa parties for $254. This venture shows the folly of attempting to start a paper where the population is so sparse. It is not only a losing game to the projectors, but an injury to other papers as it takes business from them that they would otherwise get, and at the same time is of no practical benefit to the parties getting as they are bound sooner or later to lose their all.

Miss Carrie Magoffin is arranging for a concert to be given July 8th. The leading local talent of our village will participate and in addition it is expected that Misses Carrie Davis and Mamie Kirtland will be home by that date and assist. Both are great favorites with Cheboygan public and their many admirers will be rejoiced at an opportunity to hear them again. Miss Magoffin is one of our most accomplished musicians and few places in our state can equal our local talent when it comes to a musical entertainment.

The ladies of the Relief Society have arranged for a concert to be given Thursday evening of next week, July 21, by Madama Fry's concert company. The press endorses them in the highest terms and our citizens may anticipate an entertainment of high order. The ladies propose establishing a free reading room and whatever benefit they may derive from this concert will be devoted to that purpose. They should have a crowded house. The object is a most commendable one and the entertainment is well worth the price of admission in itself. Give them a rousing house.

A Mr. Davis, from Essex county, Ontario, arrived on the City of Alpena Wednesday morning to look over this section with a view to locating. He reports a very heavy rain Sunday at his home and says his daughter set out a wash tub in the open yard and the rain filled it until it overflowed. He relates an incident that occurred on the boat while passing up the St. Clair river showing the contrast between enterprise in the United States and Canada, among the farmers. Two gentlemen from Boston were on board and while passing up the river noticed the marked contrast between the improvements, one side over the other, and made the remark that all the wealthy farmers seemed to have located on one side and poor ones on the other, they supposing that both banks belonged to Michigan. Mr. Davis explained the difference in the situation by informing them that the wealthy farmers resided in Uncle Sam's dominions, while the poor ones were on John Bull's side.
